Month of the military child

By Ms. Stephanie Pittman
99th Services Squadron

Credit is often given to our service men and women as they make sacrifices and attend to their duties without complaint. This month, the 99th Services Squadron is giving honor to the children of all active-duty personnel.

Frequent deployments, moving from base to base and making new friends isn't easy for the child of a military member.

As a way of saying thank you, Services has special events planned to give back to those who are the true military support system.

Tickets and Tours is sponsoring a drawing April 28 for Wet 'n Wild tickets. Parents and children are invited to come to the ITT office, located at 4349 Duffer Drive, and enter the drawing. Three winners will be chosen. First place will receive 4 tickets, second and third place winners receive 2 tickets each. Have a fun family day at Wet 'n Wild, courtesy of ITT.

The Youth Center has coordinated a full week of games and contests. All events begin at 5:50 p.m in the Youth Center gymnasium. There is no cost and participation is limited to school age children. The schedule includes the following events: Laser tag April 10, balloon volleyball April 11, inflatable games April 12 and a puzzle contest April 13.

Children bowl free when accompanied by a paying parent at the Nellis Bowling Center. The special is good for open bowling but does not include Thunder Alley on Friday and Saturday nights.

The Child Development Centers have activities planned throughout the month for those children attending CDC I and CDC II.

The Youth Center also has two egg hunts planned. The flashlight hunt April 14 is for older children. Younger children can hunt for eggs April 15. Look for details on Page 3 of this insert.

Parental participation is encouraged for all the activities planned.

Services Squadron members are proud to be a part of the military child's life as caregivers, teachers, coaches and mentors. Without the children's support in the base community and at home, our active-duty personnel wouldn't be able to function at the levels to which the world is accustomed.

Twins, Ayden and Armani Geston, children of Tech. Sgt. Mark Geston of the 99th Medical Support Squadron and Staff Sgt. Consuello Geston of the 9th Medical Operations Squadron Beale Air Force Base, Calif., enjoy a story with their father. The Child Development Center encourages parents to come in and spend time with their children during daycare hours.
